PRISON RAPE ELIMINATION ACT OF 2003
9th ANNUAL REPORT 2020

Goodwill Industries-Suncoast, Inc. (GIS) contracts for community based programs with the Florida Department of Corrections wherein two contracts currently exist; one contract is to operate a female work release center and the other contract operates a residential substance abuse program for state felony probationers. GIS also contracts with the Federal Bureau of Prisons to operate a residential reentry center for adult Federal inmates and Federal probationers. This report will incorporate all three contracts covering all required PREA Community Confinement Facility Standards.

The Prison Rape Elimination Act of 2003 (PREA: Public 108-79), was enacted to address sexual abuse problems in incarcerated offender populations. In addition to setting mandatory standards for the detection, prevention, and punishment of sexual abuse or rape in prisons, PREA requires all correctional facilities to collect and report detailed information regarding sexual victimization of inmates.

In July, 2013 (updated July, 2014), GIS published internal policy implementing the PREA regulations promulgated by the Attorney General. In May, 2014, PREA released the specific standards for Community Confinement Facilities. The policy emphasizes the zero tolerance for sexual abuse or harassment of any type by staff or inmates with GIS community based programs. GIS PREA coordinator and staff continue to oversee agency implementation of the law and regulations, and Federal Bureau of Prisons/Florida Department of Corrections policy.

This is GIS' 6th annual report.
